If you use a relay service such as video relay service, captioned telephone service or others, give FEMA your number for that service. Home inspections

If you report to FEMA that you cannot, or may not be able to, safely live in your home, FEMA may need to perform an inspection of the damaged dwelling. The inspection helps FEMA verify disaster-caused damage and loss. Inspectors do not determine eligibility for FEMA assistance.

FEMA will call you to meet at the address where the damage was reported. The inspector's phone number may be from out of state or show up on caller ID as "unavailable." The inspector may ask you to verify personally identifiable information by phone. If you're unsure whether a FEMA call is legitimate, contact the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362 to verify. FEMA inspectors make several attempts over the course of a few days to contact the applicant. If the call goes to voicemail, the inspector will leave a call-back number, or you may receive a text message if no other contact is able to be made. If FEMA is unable to contact you to verify your damage, you will be sent a letter of notice that your application cannot be processed further—to proceed you must call FEMA’s Helpline at 800-621-3362 to confirm your contact information and verify your need for assistance.

When the FEMA inspector calls, write down:

- The inspector’s name
- Date of call
- Date and time of appointment
- Inspector’s telephone number

If you are contacted by a FEMA home inspector, but no one in the household applied for FEMA disaster assistance, inform the inspector that you did not apply for FEMA assistance and ask the inspector to withdraw the application. Also notify FEMA by calling the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362.

During inspection

A typical inspection takes up to 45 minutes to complete. You or your designated co-applicant identified on your application will need to meet with an inspector and provide a photo ID. You may invite another individual such as a household member, relative or friend to help communicate with the inspector.

- If you or your co-applicant are unable to meet with an inspector, a third-party can be designated in writing and pre-authorized before the scheduled time and date.
- FEMA never charges a fee for an inspection. The inspector carries an official photo ID and will never ask for bank information.
- The inspector will attempt to verify the applicant’s name, address, contact information, occupancy and ownership status and insurance coverage.
- The inspector will walk through the home to assess the condition of both damaged and non-damaged areas, noting disaster caused damage to real property (structural) and doing a complete inventory of all damaged and non-damaged essential personal property (appliances, furniture, etc.).
- The inspector will ask questions about disaster-caused losses and expenses including medical expenses, moving and storage expenses, items purchased in response to the disaster, uniforms, supplies, and tools required for school or employment.
- Inspectors will not climb on roofs or enter crawl spaces.

FEMA

- Photos may be taken of the interior and exterior of the home during the inspection process.
- In situations where the home is inaccessible, the inspector may meet with the survivor at another location to verify identity, occupancy and/or ownership.
